

Monthly Newsletter

August 2023

Jafra for Relief and Youth Development

In Syria, many children and youth are until today not able to find a place in public or UNRWA schools. Year after year, since 2012, Jafra Syria offers Non-Formal Education following the official curricula and leading the students to pass their Brevet and Baccalaureate with success. 2023-2024 registration is opened.

Due to its popularity and ongoing demand, Jafra Lebanon decided to make its electricity program continuous so that as many participants as possible could gain the essential fundamental knowledge of electricity and increase their level of domestic independence. In a country where people must look for various other sources of electricity due to a lack of governmental sources, mastering this information is essential.

Summer ends the same way every year, with the smell of September and the “Back to School” for all pupils and students. This is time to say goodbye to the Summer Clubs with wonderful parties and activities so that everyone begins this new school year with marvelous souvenirs and the expectation to be back next summer.

Jafra is happy to see the formation of the Rashidieh camp team, a new football crew in Lebanon, as part of its mission to keep children and adolescents active and away from unsafe ways of coping. The objective is to gradually establish a team in each refugee camp in Syria and Lebanon.

August is dedicated to celebrating youth. Young people are regarded as the backbone of Jafra. In 2002, young people founded Jafra, which has since continued to empower youth across every sector, activities and levels. Youth participate in organizational, national, and local decisions. They are essential in all areas where Jafra is present.

Jafra believes in equipping every individual with several life skills. First Aid gestures are part of them and important to master for all as soon as possible even at early ages. In Jafra Centers, children are taught what should be in a first aid pack and how to treat simple wounds.

Check our platforms

